PT6A/JT15D CORPORATE TURBINE ENGINE & ACCESSORY WARRANTY

WHAT WE WARRANT

Dallas Airmotive, Inc. warrants that at the time of delivery, all workmanship performed by Dallas Airmotive, Inc. will:

Comply with applicable published specifications of the manufacturer in the original configuration of the aircraft engine or engine accessory worked on in effect at the time that work is performed (or with Dallas Airmotive, Inc. specifications approved by the manufacturer or developed by Dallas Airmotive, Inc. in accordance with authority from the Federal Aviation Administration), and with applicable published directives and regulations of the Federal Aviation Administration in mandatory effect at the time that work is performed, and conform to standards of good workmanship which are customarily recognized in the industry at the time the work is performed.

Following completion of the work, engines are warranted for a period of:

3500 operating hours, or recommended manufacturer's basic operating TBO, whichever shall first occur or 7 years from completion by Dallas Airmotive, Inc. which ever shall occur first.

TO WHOM WE MAKE OUR WARRANTY

This warranty is extended to engines based and operated throughout the world and may only be enforced by the customer which ordered Dallas Airmotive, Inc. to perform the work or install the parts, on the engine or accessory. It is transferable upon engine sale to another person, firm or customer with prior written consent of an authorized Dallas Airmotive, Inc. representative.

WHAT DALLAS AIRMOTIVE, INC. WILL DO IF THE WARRANTY CLAIM IS VALID

If a warranty claim by a customer is determined to be valid by Dallas Airmotive, Inc. then Dallas Airmotive, Inc. will at its expense either repair or replace (at Dallas Airmotive, Inc.'s option) the nonconforming portions of the engine or accessory which sustained damage as a direct result of the nonconforming work. Dallas Airmotive, Inc. also warrants all parts supplied and installed by Dallas Airmotive, Inc. in Engine Accessories overhauled with an engine overhaul.

Additional Terms

Dallas Airmotive, Inc. shall have the option to replace warranted life-limited parts with either new parts or with parts having at least the same life remaining as the part replaced. To the extent that the replacement of a warranted life-limited part results in installation of a part with more life remaining than the part replaced, Dallas Airmotive, Inc. may charge the customer for the difference. Overhauls must be accomplished at Dallas Airmotive, Inc. using current recommended modification standards for service bulletin incorporation for coverage under the parts and labor warranty. All repairs and replacements must be performed at Dallas Airmotive, Inc.'s facilities, and may not be performed at another facility without prior written consent of an authorized Dallas Airmotive, Inc. representative.

In the event that the normal cost of any repair or replacement to be performed pursuant to this warranty would approach or exceed Dallas Airmotive, Inc.'s normal overhaul costs, Dallas Airmotive, Inc. reserves the right to overhaul the engine or accessory with the customer paying the direct operating cost as determined by the manufacturer's published limited cost overhaul (LCO) or extended engine services policy (EESP) rates for each hour operated since the last overhaul (TSO).

Normal scheduled maintenance (and any associated repairs); parts or service bulletin embodiment recommended by the manufacturer is at the customer's expense. The customer must pay Dallas Airmotive, Inc. usual charges for any other work or parts ordered by the customer, which are not covered by this warranty.

This warranty is effective on engines received after November 1, 1995.

HOW TO MAKE A WARRANTY CLAIM

All warranty claims must be made to Dallas Airmotive, Inc. in writing immediately (but no later than 48 hours) upon discovery of the condition, giving rise to the claim and within the applicable warranty period set forth above. Dallas Airmotive, Inc. must be given a reasonable opportunity to promptly investigate warranty claims and the customer must cooperate in the investigation as Dallas Airmotive, Inc. may request. Dallas Airmotive, Inc. reserves the right to require the customer to promptly send the engine or accessory to a designated Dallas Airmotive, Inc.'s facility, at the customer's expense, for disassembly and inspection in order to determine Dallas Airmotive, Inc.'s warranty responsibility, if any.
